SOCIAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES	Team work: Since primary school I am working in diverse teams – from associations (NGOs) to research teams. I have worked in and led associations and organizations (e.g. UN Clubs of Slovenia, Red Cross) – usually being able to integrate into the team and stimulate its work. Communication: Being interested in meeting and knowing people and connected with my work, especially teaching and being involved in training in the field of diversity management, prevention, management and resolution of crisis and conflict, I have developed communication skills and ability to connect with people. In the past, I was also offering training courses in public speech and communication. Teaching/training: I participated in, organized and offered a number of courses and programs – including training of teachers, public officials, judges, NGO activists, etc. (E.g., seminars/workshops on diversity management and the prevention, management and resolution of crisis and conflict for scholars, lawyers, teachers, students, minority representatives and NGO activists etc.). For more than 20 years I am a co-director of a graduate course on Divided Societies at the Inter University Centre in Dubrovnik. Mediation skills: Teaching and training diversity management, prevention, management and resolution of crisis and conflict I learned also mediation skills, which I am using especially in training activities and programs. Intercultural skills: Being involved in research in ethnic studies, coordinating plural teams, living (e.g. Australia, Canada, New Zealand, Norway, USA) and working in diverse environments I have developed sensitiveness and learned to appreciate

ORGANISATIONAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES	Organizational skills and competences: I have been working in diverse associations and organizations and, among others, I was leading (1982-1986 and 1988-1989) the UN Clubs of Slovenia, a NGO with more than 10.000 members and 600 clubs in primary and secondary schools and townships. I have organized several summer schools and camps (especially in the 1980s and 1990s), seminars, workshops, conferences and congresses. In the time of transition and democratization (in the 1980s and early 1990s) I was also politically active in democratization activities. Managing skills and competences: Between 1993 and 1997 I was a president of the Board of the IES, and in the period 1998-2007 I was the director of the IES. Since I became the director the Institute grew from 24 to 31 employees, of them 24 researchers; initially there were 3 researchers with Ph.D., while in 2007 there were 19 researchers with Ph.D. An important activity that contributes to education and training of young researchers and academics and to the development of ethnic studies in Slovenia and broader (cooperation of Australian and other partners) is the Students' Research Project (that involves undergraduate and post-graduate students from different faculties of the University of Ljubljana) that I am coordinating since 1994. I have established, developed and coordinated several higher education (undergraduate and (post) graduate) courses and programs. Since 1996, I am coordinating the MA Program in Political Science – Ethnic Studies at the Faculty of Social Sciences that I established and developed. Based on this program, MA program Ethnic Studies (Bologna II) was developed that I coordinate and that received its Bologna accreditation (in 2005; re-accredited in 2015). I also coordinate Ph.D. Program in Diversity Management (and Governance) at the University of Primorska.
